North Belfast Lantern Festival

Now in its seventh year preparations for North Belfast Lantern Parade Festival 2016 are under way. Organised by New Lodge Arts this increasingly popular event is set to take place over a two-day period on Wednesday 26th and Thursday 27th October. The theme for this year’s event will be Roald Dahl who is often referred to as one of the greatest storytellers for children of the 20th century. 2016 marks 100 years since Dahl’s birth.

Alexandra Park
On Wednesday 26th October 2016 between 11.30am – 3.30pm various activities including circus performers, lantern making, music, visual arts, storytelling, etc., will take place in Alexandra Park, followed at 6.00 pm - 8.00 pm by an Outdoor Cinema showing Charlie & the Chocolate Factory. Similar activities will also take place in the park on the following day Thursday 26th from 11.30am – 3.30pm.

Lantern Parade
The Lantern Parade itself will take place on Thursday 27th October departing from Girdwood Community Hub at 6.45pm and make its way to Alexandra Park for a huge carnival event including a fireworks display.

Good Relations
Cecilia Heron Good Relations Officer with New Lodge Arts said, “We are encouraging as many people as possible to come and watch the parade before entering the park. The parade route will be: Cliftonpark Avenue, down Cliftonville Road, up Antrim Road, down Limestone Road and into Alexandra Park via Milervier Street. Each year hundreds of children from schools and community groups right across North Belfast come together to prepare for the event. The Lantern Parade creates a fantastic opportunity for communities to get together and for thousands to participate in a genuinely feel good occasion. In the process this helps to build better relations between people across a broad spectrum of cultures and communities”.

The North Belfast Lantern Parade is part of the North Belfast Community Pride Programme which is funded through The Executive Office Good Relations Programme and led by Ashton Community Trust.

New Lodge Arts is a project of Ashton Community Trust.

After much preparation and anticipation the 2016 McCracken School opened on 24th July with a drama about a Methodist Irish Language activist, and closed with a European flavoured concert on Saturday 30th July, to the venue filling voice of a performer akin to playing opera houses, Christine Bovill. We managed to pull off what turned out to be the busiest and most successful McCracken Summer School to date, with up to 260 adult learners participating in Irish classes daily throughout the week, hailing from all over Ireland, Scotland, England, from Canada and even from New York! Over 60 children took part in the workshops, youth club and the summer camp, organised with the use of the new facilities at Bunscoil Bheann Mhadagáin on the Cliftonville Road - so a big thank you to them.

We had the privilege of witnessing some of Ireland’s finest singers, musicians and entertainers perform to a full house on the Barr a’ Ti stage in Áras Mhic Reachtain, from Gráinne Holland and her highly acclaimed accompanying musicians, to Clann Mhic Ruairí, John Spillane, Kíla, and Aodan & Irial Ó Céallaigh.

As always we received glowing feedback from all those who participated, with some requesting that the summer school be extended to two weeks they enjoyed it so much! We put this down to the high standard, quality and differing styles of the teachers taking the classes each day, the work and dedication of the volunteers from the surrounding area and of those associated with Cumann Cultúrtha Mhic Reachtain, the hard graft and hospitality of those at the coal face providing tea and coffee to the masses three times a day, the kindness & understanding of residents in the local vicinity, and of course to the outright enthusiasm and commitment of the learners themselves.

If you feel you’ve missed out, don’t worry as we run events in Áras Mhic Reachtain, 283-289 Antrim Road, BT15 2GZ regularly and of course the summer school will run again next year. Our Irish classes for all levels have started Monday and Wednesday nights from 7pm-9pm, and our coffee mornings run Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 10.30 - so contact us on telephone; 02890 749688, email; eolas@mhicreachtain.com, facebook; Cumann Cultúrtha Mhic Reachtain, or call in any time to sign up or take part. Classes are free of charge, donations welcome. We look forward to seeing you.

Bonfire Problems

For the fifth year in a row a bonfire was lit on Victoria Parade. The fire on Monday night 8th August attracted crowds made up mostly of young people many of them not from the local area. As in previous years the bonfire was accompanied by drunkenness and anti social behaviour into the early hours of Tuesday morning. Much under-age drinking was clearly in evidence. As the ‘Big Night Out’ proceeded there was fighting and brawling on the street. It should be noted that the crowds that gathered at or near the bonfire were not exclusively younger people. It was also obvious that adults from the local area some accompanied by their children also participated, showing total disregard for the residents that live nearby.

Statutory Failure
As in previous years the statutory authorities including the PSNI failed to address this problem with any real effect. Indeed had it not been for the individual efforts of local Councillor JJ Magee the bonfire would have been much bigger and would have posed an even greater threat to nearby homes. This is not scare mongering, readers will be aware of recent events in the Shankill Road area where homes went on fire because of their proximity to one of these bonfires.

Internment Commemoration???
Any pretext that this was an ‘Internment Commemoration’, is without any credibility whatsoever! In a survey last year the vast majority of ex-internees totally rejected the bonfires as regressive behaviour. Furthermore, it is well known that in the bonfire aftermath some of the bonfire builders have continued to engage in ongoing anti-community behaviour in the area.

Some people have been reported in the media as describing bonfires in nationalist areas as an act of defiance against the so called ‘establishment’. What is this supposed to mean? Are residents who simply want to be left in peace and quiet in the privacy of their homes now to be seen as the ‘establishment’?

Immature Behaviour
In reality the bonfire and everything associated with it is nothing more than a destructive act against an already hard pressed community. Those involved have spurned offers of alternative activities, conversations and engagement with them has thus far been unsuccessful. Saying that ‘loyalists have bonfires too’ hardly amounts to an argument. It is perhaps to be expected that some immature young people when left to do whatever they want will engage in such behaviour, after all in their young and inexperienced minds burning and wrecking stuff is probably regarded as great fun. What is totally reprehensible however is the fact that some parents support or excuse this type of behaviour. If this includes you then you should ask yourself what kind of community do you want your family to live and grow in? Better still, you should grow up, wise up and try to set a better example.

This is the 7th year of the Annual Ashton Community Bursary Awards. The purpose of the Bursary Awards Scheme is to enable the Ashton Community Trust to use some of its resources to provide help to other community led projects in the Greater New Lodge area especially where there is clear evidence of voluntary input and where financial resources for a group are scarce. Ashton has now distributed over £35,000 in Bursary Awards.

The Upper Long Streets Residents Committee have conducted a survey of the upper section of the long streets to gauge the level of support still felt for the need to redevelop the area. Over three nights the committee gained access to over 150 homes and of these 100% were in favour, in fact there was surprise at the need for a survey at all as most people assumed the houses above Lepper Street were for them. There was also a fair amount of anger that this should be in doubt.

Meeting With N.I.H.E.
St. Patrick’s & St. Joseph’s Housing Committee had asked for a meeting with the Housing Executive’s Chief executive on a number of issues and members of the Long Streets committee were to be present to discuss this particular one, in fact I had asked that the publication of this magazine be delayed to allow me to report on the outcome. Unfortunately the meeting did not take place as the H.E. failed to show citing a misunderstanding of the time, however, the meeting has been rescheduled for Oct 3rd and a report will be in the next magazine. In the meantime this committee will continue to work on the assumption that redevelopment will continue and if necessary will seek to meet the Communities Minister and if necessary begin a media campaign. If this opportunity is lost then the possibility of completing redevelopment in the next thirty years or more is very remote.

Seven Towers
Members of the Seven Towers Residents were also disappointed that the above meeting did not take place as the issue of the concierge/new fob system was also on the agenda. The introduction of new fobs and the upgrade of the cameras has led the H.E. to suggest that we could do without concierges at certain times, particularly during the day. This is not the case, several times in the past week or two I myself have seen security breached in Maeve House. Young people knowing there is no concierge wait for someone to exit and leap over the fence and enter the building. Technical teething problems and genuine security fears need to be separated and addressed for the full impact of the new system to be successful. We are meeting the H.E. very soon to discuss the initial impact on the residents of Maeve house and other issues and as usual will keep people informed.

New Homes In North Queen Street
On a happier note all the houses at North Queen Street are allocated and the next month or so will see tenants moving into their new homes, it seems a long time coming but the scheme is almost complete and we have had only positive feedback on the houses and the layout. An open day will be held, probably in the Recy, for Newington H.A. to meet their new tenants and to welcome them. It will also be an opportunity to discuss any worries tenants may have and to be made aware of other services available. Tenants will be made aware of the open day in the coming days but in the meantime the Housing Forum and Upper Long Streets Residents Committee would like to take this opportunity to wish all the residents a long, happy and peaceful tenure in their new homes.

We will continue to keep residents updated regularly through the medium of this magazine.

Liam Wiggins, Chair, New Lodge Housing Forum.
This year’s Greater New Lodge Community Festival Programme contained a host of activities including street parties, family fun days, theatre, literature and art shows, music gigs and concerts, exhibitions, lectures, debates, sports events and more. The programme was a fantastic success with large numbers of people in attendance at various events. Paul O’Neill Chairperson of the Festival Committee congratulated all of the local community and youth workers and volunteers that helped organise the festival and thanked those that directly provided funding towards the staging of events.

Paul said, “The festival programme is the product of the collective efforts of many great people. It creates an opportunity for celebration and enjoyment but it also provides an important platform for local people to promote and to demonstrate the great pool of talent, creativity and positivity that exists here in the New Lodge. It is this that reflects the true spirit of our community”.

Building Walls Breaking Walls International Youth Exchange

Over the summer young people from New Lodge Youth Centre and Newtownabbey Antrim Cultural Network took part in the ‘Building Walls Breaking Walls’ international youth exchange project. The first exchange took place on Cape Clear Island, County Cork and the second in the Swiss Alps. The programme involved young people from Switzerland, Ireland, Israel and Palestine.

Kerri Leigh Bright from New Lodge Youth Centre said “This was an amazing opportunity and a life changing experience. It was hard work as we were building stone walls and it was very challenging learning about different cultures and living and working together but it was great fun and the memories will last forever. The exchange has given both myself and the young people the desire and motivation to get involved in more international work. We built amazing friendships with young people and youth workers from countries like Switzerland, Israel and Palestine and hope that we can work with them again in the future. The project has enabled the young people that took part to feel a sense of who they are and what they want to be!”

Cheerleading in New Lodge Youth Centre

New Lodge Youth Centre Cheetahs Cheerleading for young people aged 5-14 years of age starts back on Monday 19th September. Cheetahs meet every Monday and Wednesday at 5pm. For more information on Cheetahs please contact Mary or Kerri Leigh in the youth centre. New members are welcome to try out.

- 6.00 – 7.00 pm for children in P.2 – P.4
- 7.00 - 8.30pm for young people in P.5 – P7

New members aged 8+ years are welcome. Come along and try out activities, hear about the programmes planned for the coming months and meet the staff and volunteers.

The year ahead is shaping up to be very busy with one group planning their second trip to Romania and another planning a trip to Poland. Other programmes taking place include drug awareness, an intergenerational programme with young people visiting care homes, leadership development, the second Irish history programme, two cross border programmes, various arts and sports programmes and ongoing street outreach. Call in to the centre and speak to Mary for more information.

Irish History Programme and DVD Launch

Over the past six months young people from New Lodge Youth Centre have been working on a project exploring the situation in Ireland in 1916. The programme, delivered in three parts, studies the 1916 Rising in Dublin, the Battle of the Somme and World War One. It then looks at the present and future prospects for young people living in Ireland from both sides of the community. Throughout this project the young people have documented their journey through film and photography. Some of the places visited were Derry’s Walls, the Bloody Sunday Museum, the Apprentice Boys Museum and other sites of interest in Derry City. The young people also visited Dublin’s GPO, Kilmainham Jail, Arbour Hill, Collins Barracks and Glasnevin Cemetery. Also, as part of the programme, they reflected on the Rising in Ireland the Proclamation and the leadership styles of the men who signed the document. Young people went on a residential to Newcastle Co Down were they produced a DVD and Magazine. Discussion groups were held in the youth centre with MLAs and ex prisoners from Belfast. Mary Madine from the Youth Centre said “The young people engaged in every aspect of the programme showing the speakers and tour guides the greatest respect and their feedback was phenomenal.”
The first part of their video diary was launched in the New Lodge Youth Centre on the 11th of August. Speaking at the event was the Deputy Lord Mayor Mary Ellen Campbell, Mary Madine Youth Leader in Charge, Louise Maguire volunteer at the youth centre and Paul O’Neill from the Ashton Community Trust. Young people from the youth centre facilitated the launch of the DVD dressed in period costume. This event was well attended by community representatives and parents. Young people from the Hub Resource Centre in North Belfast will release the 2nd diary in October. The third and final part of the project will be launched in February 2017.

Inclusion Leadership Programme

Young people from New Lodge Youth Centre involved in an ‘Inclusion Leadership Programme’ that will include a trip to Romania in February 2017 have been busy this summer supporting homeless outreach and volunteering with the 174 Trust Disability Project. The young volunteers took to the streets in the city centre providing those sleeping rough with hot food, drinks and conversation. They also supported events around mental health and suicide prevention and volunteered at an event in the Waterworks Park on World Suicide Prevention Day. This event saw families pay tribute to loved ones lost to suicide and speak about the issues across Belfast relating to suicide. Some of the young people in the project also took part in a six mile cycle against suicide to raise awareness of the issue. The young people continue to volunteer with the 174 Disability Project on a weekly basis supporting other young people with disabilities through the provision of activities and events. Whilst this all is going on the young volunteers have shown great dedication in ensuring their trip to Romania happens through fundraising initiatives. The young people organised and ran a youth fun day where over 100 people attended, undertook a bag pack and also attended a fun day at Academy One Gym to raise much needed funds. For all of their efforts the group won an award for Positive Change and Courage at the Gala Awards in Ardoyne Chapel.

Summer Programme

New Lodge Youth Centre had their annual summer programme for seven weeks in July and August. The summer programme catered for those aged 5-19 with a variety of programmes across the different ages. Over this period we had eight residential opportunities including two international exchanges to Cork and Switzerland, three intervention residentials delivered in partnership with New Lodge Arts to Newcastle, Armagh and Ballintoy and two additional residentials to Castlewellan and Newcastle. Junior members’ daily trips included Belfast Zoo, the Adventure Play Ground, Crawfordsburn Beach, day trips to Bangor and Newcastle and the Cinema. The senior members’ programme included the cinema, banana boating, snow tubing, go carting, mini-golf, high ropes and low ropes with Colin Glen Trust and outdoor activities with Belfast Activity Centre. The youth centre continued to be opened for drop-in, relax with friends or join in many of the indoor activities and sporting games. Feedback from the young people was positive.
Ashton Training and Employment News

It used to be said that the summer months were quiet but that no longer seems to be the case as it has been exceptionally busy in the Training and Employment Department. We have dealt with hundreds of clients, started lots of training courses and continued to place large numbers of people in jobs throughout the summer months.

However, first some great news from across the projects.

Lemis+ Project

The Belfast Works LEMIS+ Project, led by the Ashton Community Trust, has been going from strength to strength in North Belfast. Debbie Watts and Samantha Edgar who attend the LEMIS+ outreach at Alliance Road were among participants who benefited from the project, having been awarded Childcare Level 1 and Essential Skills Level 2, which is equivalent to a GCSE in English and Maths.

Their LEMIS+ mentor, Suzanne Toner said: “When I met Debbie and Samantha neither of them were working or looking for work. I think at that point they just didn’t believe they could do anything. They signed up to the LEMIS+ programme and started doing the level one childcare course. This helped them to realise that they could survive, and even thrive, in an education setting. They then went on to do further qualifications that would set them up for jobs.

“Debbie is among the LEMIS+ participants who have gone on to start the Childcare Level 2 qualification at Belfast Met. It’s hard to envisage the difference in Debbie since she started with us – she is newly confident, and has been able to push the boundaries of her comfort zone to open up a new future for herself. As the mother of an autistic child, she has started working with her community group to source funding to set up a parents’ group for autistic children. Her drive and attitude is incredible - it’s like nothing can stop her now!”

The LEMIS+ Project gives support, advice and training advice to help them get into employment. Lemis+ has a number of very exciting opportunities coming up. We are planning to launch a Hospitality Employment Academy which give clients a high quality intensive course and qualifications and will guarantee interviews in the industry. The Academy is still being finalised but may start at the end of October.

If you interested in joining the Lemis+ project contact Michael on 90742255 michael.mccluskey@ashtoncentre.com

Core Project

The Core project has been busy working with young people across North Belfast and has welcomed a new co-ordinator in John McCrae. John is no stranger to Ashton as he previously worked in one of our partner organisations, East Belfast Mission.

One of the highlights of this period has been the latest run of our SWEET programme. SWEET is designed to work with young people who are very far from the job market. Many of the young people involved have no job experience and no or very low levels of qualifications. They might also have self esteem and other personal problems that have made it hard for them to get on the road to work.

We recently held an Awards Event to celebrate 17 of our young people completing six weeks of training on the ‘SWEET’ Programme. During this programme they completed modules on employability skills, confidence building, team building days, sexual health, and drugs and alcohol. The mentors who took the programme said that they witnessed an enormous change in the young people who took part. The young people gained enormous confidence and new skills and many of them are now entering work or further education. At the awards ceremony we had Gary Hamilton as our guest speaker. Gary is a world champion kick boxer. Gary gave an inspirational talk where he spoke about his own experiences and how he turned his life around through dedicated hard work and development of his personal skills and abilities.
In October 2016 within the CORE Project, we have FREE training commencing in Retail, Customer Services, Construction, First Aid Employability and Product Design. Call the CORE team on 028 95 609522. The Core Project at Ashton Community Trust is based at 20 Cliftonville Road, Belfast. We work with 16-24 year olds, not in education, training or employment. We deliver employability services across a range of training, with 1:1 mentoring support from our team of experienced staff.

Community Family Support Programme
How does learning to wire a plug help you find a job? The answer can be found on our Family Support Programme. Families on the programme are currently taking part in a basic DIY programme. In this fantastically practical programme, the families will be learning skills to complete simple DIY tasks such as fitting and maintaining latches, replacing fuses, painting and decorating tips and of course wiring a plug.

Many of the people that join our programme are young mums who have little experience of working and might have very few or no qualifications. Programmes such as the DIY course are designed to give them a start back into education, increase their confidence and sense of achievement by gaining new skills and, of course, by learning something useful that can actually save them money.

The next step is to support the family members to go further by looking for work or taking on a more formal education or training course. All of this takes place in a supportive environment where the whole family is welcome.

You can get involved in the Community Family Support Programme by contacting Jeanette on 9560 9522 jeanette.burns@ashtoncentre.com.

In addition to the programmes above Training and Employment are still running the Co-Ment programme which is an employability programme for young people (contact Tracy 9074 2255 tracy.mcwhinney@ashtoncentre.com) and CALL/ICT which is offering Essential Skills courses in English, Maths and ICT (contact Hilary 90322289 hilary.adair@ashtoncentre.com).
Bonfire Related Vandalism
An upsurge in anti-social behaviour and vandalism in the New Lodge is being linked to the same people responsible for the bonfire in the New Lodge in August. In the immediate aftermath of the bonfire there were numerous incidents of anti-social behaviour and vandalism in the area. This included the burning of a mini-bonfire that damaged street lighting at North Queen Street Steps, pedestrian traffic lights were also deliberately burned on the same street a few days later, furniture was set alight on the main New Lodge Road, fire-fighters on their way to an emergency were attacked, crowds associated with the bonfire continued to gather regularly to blast loud music beside the homes of elderly residents into the early hours and threaten anyone that dared challenge their behaviour. The list goes on and on.

Intimidation
There is a general sense within the community that those involved in this behaviour have been given a free ride to do whatever they want. This perception is very understandable as year after year certain very well known individuals can continue to harass, intimidate and bully residents apparently without fear of legal sanction or punishment. The parents of some of these young people seem totally unwilling or unable to control them. Youth and community workers and elected representatives have engaged in dialogue with a significant proportion of those involved in order to encourage a change of heart from them, without much success.

MLA Speaks Out
The Safer Streets Committee has been in meeting after meeting with various statutory agencies to ensure that they do their job properly and put the health, safety and well being of residents at the top of their agenda. In a recent newspaper article local MLA Caral Ni Chuilin expressed her deep anger and disappointment at the failure of statutory agencies to deal effectively with bonfires and the negative behaviour associated with them. The Safer Streets Committee shares these concerns.

A Right To Safety
We want positive action and not excuses from those tasked with upholding the safety of citizens against the actions of thugs and bullies. The Safer Streets Committee is there to promote the right to safety for residents by holding statutory agencies to account. It is not there to provide cover for these agencies or to act as a go-between to convey lame excuses to the community. We understand that these agencies can often be faced with resource problems. We also acknowledge the genuine efforts of individual staff members. However there can be no excuse for those in senior positions of authority who have failed to get to grips with a problem that now plagues the people of the New Lodge every summer. This community deserves better.

The PSNI have stated that incidents are often not reported to them. It is important that you report any incident where you are a victim of crime or anti-social behaviour. If there is no official record of an incident it’s as if it hasn’t even happened. If you can’t or won’t report to the police then you can contact Safer Streets at - 0756493 8276 if no one is available leave a message. Another community number you can ring is, Community Restorative Justice Ireland (CRJI) - 028 90 753043.

The Greater New Lodge Safer Streets Committee is totally voluntary and is not funded.

Lighthouse Flower Arranging Day

Jo Murphy of Lighthouse thought it would be a lovely gesture for the organisation to give a gift of flowers to families on Friday 9th September for world suicide prevention day on the 10th September. Families came along on the day to create a special arrangement, they got involved themselves in arranging the flowers. We had a lovely day filled with lots of support and love for each other. As in our mission statement we like to promote and support positive mental health for those affected by suicide.

The Little Mermaid - Girdwood Hub
New Lodge Arts was delighted to work in partnership with C21 Theatre Company to deliver ‘The Little Mermaid’. The project ran from 25-29 July 2016 with 27 budding young performers who took part in a range of Dance, Drama and Singing workshops. Led by an artistic team of Aaron Cathcart and Jess Dane, the young people had a fantastic time working on this project. The final performance took place on Friday 29th July to an audience of family and friends.

One parent said ‘My children enjoyed everything about their time at the project. They enjoyed the interaction between all the children & the fun they all had together. They loved all staff members as everyone of them had taken time to get to know the children and most importantly talk to the children. They also loved performing & showing off all their hard work!!’

Junior Arts Academy - ‘Alice in Wonderland’
New Lodge Arts Junior Summer Arts Academy took place from Monday 1st August – Friday 5th August 2015 with 24 young people participating in the programme. Led by Brona Jackson and Sarah Davies, the young people devised their own piece of theatre based on Alice in Wonderland. During the week, the young people took part in workshops in singing, acting and dancing in preparation for the showcase on Friday afternoon. The performance was fantastic and showed the tremendous talent of the young people involved. Parents were impressed by what their child had achieved during the week. One parent said ‘both girls were full of enthusiasm going to the drama course every day, the tutors were so encouraging. They loved meeting new friends and never got bored.’

Anne Delaney, Arts Programme & Operations Manager, New Lodge Arts was delighted with the event: ‘Our third Street Party was a definite highlight of this year’s Summer Festival. The sun shone all day and the audiences were impressed by the fantastic variety of activities available.’

The Jungle Book
We were delighted to work in partnership with C21 Theatre Company again on this weeklong programme in Girdwood Community Hub. The young people worked hard throughout the week learning their parts, practicing dance routines and singing the familiar songs such as ‘I want to be like you’ and ‘The Bare Necessities’. There was great talent in the group who all thoroughly enjoyed the week. The showcase in Girdwood on the Friday afternoon was enjoyed by family and friends.

Anne Delaney, New Lodge Arts said “The young people really gave it their all this week and pulled out all stops to make the performance happen! Working in partnership with C21 Theatre Company brought new dimension to our programme and gave the young people a chance to work with new artists. We look forward to further collaboration in the future.’

Summer Arts Academy – Hairspray

For this year’s Summer Arts Academy, we were delighted to stage a production of the hit musical – Hairspray led by Sean Mullan (Artistic Director) and Rochelle McParland (Choreographer).

The rehearsals were held during the weeklong residential in Lorne House, Holywood. The young people were immersed in a busy schedule of singing, acting and dancing in preparation for the Saturday night showcase.

Over 200 people attended the performance in Girdwood Hub on Saturday 13th August which showcased the talent of the young people.

Anne Delaney, Arts Programme & Operations Manager said ‘A 5-night residential was an ambitious programme for us but it definitely paid off. The young people were committed to making the showcase a success and worked very hard during the week. The participants had a fantastic week – and were extremely well looked after by the New Lodge Arts staff team!’

Mena Singh, 16 from North Belfast said ‘This was an amazing experience for all us young kids and it’s brought different cultures and beliefs together it and the best part was knowing cared about their different backgrounds we all got along together as a big family.’

‘Acting Up’ Summer Camp

We were delighted to work in partnership with NACN Theatre Company in Rathcoole on this year’s TBUC Summer Camp – Acting Up funded by The Executive Office. The group included 20 young people New Lodge Arts and Newtownabbey Arts & Cultural Network Theatre Company. The project included Drama Workshops, Teambuilding and Outdoor activities.

The group headed off to Greenhill YMCA in Newcastle and enjoyed a series of workshops, high ropes, bouldering, team challenges, drama sessions and teambuilding. The group had an amazing experience on the residential and it was clear to see the positive impact of using arts as a tool for bringing people from different cultures together.

The group worked towards a performance at Culture Night in Belfast on Friday 16th September 2016.

Lower North Belfast Family Support Hub

The Lower North Belfast Family Support Hub has now been operational for over one year and continues to go from strength to strength with the amount of referrals from schools, GPS, Community organisations or indeed self-referrals increasing every month. The Hub can help families at many difficult times whether it is dealing with the challenging behaviour of children/teenagers, if a family is dealing with debt, social isolation or a member of the family is dealing with drug or alcohol misuse or if a parent is suffering from mental ill-health—indeed any of the life experiences that negatively impact on a family’s ability to be the best it can be.

Should you have any queries about the Hub or should you wish to refer your family to the Hub please contact Edith McManus, the Lower North Belfast Family Support Hub Co-ordinator at the Ashton Centre 02890 749986

Ryan on New Lodge Arts

A young local man Ryan McMahon shares his thoughts about his involvement and work with the fantastic New Lodge Arts project.

I first began my new journey within New Lodge Arts by starting a new course. I am now in a full-time position whilst also being flung back into school also doing a diploma course in youth work.

I have flourished as a youth worker over the past few months. I often find myself going into a daze and thinking where I have come from and where I am now. I have matured and grown into a young man. I have been developing myself as a youth worker and gained lots of new skills. There were lots of projects run over the summer that I loved taking part in. I am optimistic for the future and where I will end up, but I know wherever I end up that my heart will always be in New Lodge Arts and with the young people I have watched growing over the past few years.

I am enjoying my new role because I have experienced things that I could only dream of, meeting different people and going to different places... just different.

Thomas Devlin Foundation Bursary

New Lodge Arts were delighted to secure funding from the Thomas Devlin Foundation to support Aoibheann Henry to complete Titanic Creative Management Summer Prosthetic and Special FX course.

The Thomas Devlin Foundation which is managed by the Community Foundation for Northern Ireland, has now given out £70,000 in bursaries since it was set up by Penny Holloway and Jim Devlin in 2006 in memory of their son Thomas who was tragically killed the previous year.

Aoibheann who attended an event to celebrate the achievements of the participants said ‘I was awarded a bursary from the fund this summer and used the funding to attend the Titanic Creative Management prosthetic make-up summer school. I wouldn’t have been able to take up the opportunity if I hadn’t received funding from the Thomas Devlin Fund.

“I plan to use the skills I have learned to help out with school productions and New Lodge Arts. Someday I’d love to get involved in creative writing and film directing. Getting the bursary just makes it seem so much more possible”.

Anne Delaney, New Lodge Arts said “This fund provides opportunities for young people to engage in specialist training in a variety of art forms. Aoibheann has a talent in Special FX make-up and when I saw the course provided by Titanic Creative Management which was facilitated by Brian Kinney, a top Hollywood MUA, I knew it would be ideal for Aoibheann. Without the funding secured through the Thomas Devlin Foundation, Aoibheann couldn’t have taken part. I look forward to seeing Aoibheann test out some of her skills on future projects”.

Tar Isteach held its Annual General Meeting on Friday 26th August. The following is an abridged version of the Annual Report from a management perspective.

Management Report
The past year has been a very challenging time for everyone involved in Tar Isteach. Not least due to the ending of Peace 3 funding and the difficulties this presented. Since our last AGM we have lost funding for posts in our Training and Employment, Youth Development, Welfare Rights and Financial Administration Departments. All of our departments have lost resources of some description putting intense pressure on our service capacity. It is a measure of the commitment of those staff that lost their jobs with Tar Isteach that they continue to volunteer for the project in their spare time.

Despite these setbacks we have been able to maintain certain core services. This has been made possible by overwhelming support from the local community including fundraising activities and events. It indicates the high regard in which our project is held and has been crucial in enabling us to retain our Advice and Counselling services. Both of these services have maintained their high level of provision despite reductions in support staff and resources. However all of this has undoubtedly placed extreme strain on our staff.

In response to these challenges the management and staff are working hard to put the organisation in a better place. Funding processes are difficult and competitive with no guarantees of success. The only thing that we can guarantee is 100% effort on our part.

Tar Isteach continues to lobby and campaign against ongoing criminalisation and discrimination against political ex-prisoners. This includes advocacy and research. Our latest project for example involves a Needs Analysis which is a follow up to a study conducted on our behalf by Queens University in 2015. The findings of this research will be used to demonstrate the needs, issues, concerns and barriers that still exist for political ex-prisoners. This latest analysis indicates increasing isolation, ill health and financial hardships faced by many political ex-prisoners particularly as they enter into older age. It is clear for all to see that the continuing mistreatment of the political ex-prisoner community remains an unresolved legacy of the conflict.

To the republican ex-prisoner community we promise that our management committee and staff will carry on working to secure the necessary resources needed to sustain all services and to return them to their full capacity. We will continue to respond to the best of our ability to the needs articulated by our political ex-prisoner constituency and their dependants.

Locality Planning Coming to New Lodge!
Belfast City Council officials met with a number of community representatives from Greater New Lodge Community Empowerment Partnership at the Ashton Centre on Friday September 16th. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss Belfast Council’s intention to introduce a Locality Planning scheme for the New Lodge. The basic idea of locality planning is to identify and address local issues by engaging and working with local people, community groups and organisations. Through such an engagement the aim is to enable local people to identify what they feel are the local issues and priorities and how they think these should be addressed. The idea is to then use this information to influence the development of a local plan for the future delivery of actions and services for a locality. This might involve developing a partnership approach including a range of people and organisations who would have responsibilities and expertise in dealing with the priorities that have been identified. Further meetings are planned to discuss how the process could be rolled out with local residents.
North Belfast Families intervene in planning process to fight for social housing at Dunnes/Hillview – Crumlin Road

Families from the Equality Can’t Wait (ECW) campaign recently hand delivered a proposal for social housing to TSA Planning Consultants, Killultagh Properties and Belfast City Council planning service. The proposal was also sent to MLAs, Councillors and Assembly departments responsible for planning and housing.

In June Killultagh Properties and TSA Planning Consultants began a consultation on proposals to develop 6 retail units, a car show room and a drive through café at Dunnes / Hillview on the Crumlin road. The previously failed retail venture has been lying vacant for years while waiting lists for social housing have exploded. Despite this, the plans brought forward by developers exclude social housing.

Political Support

ECW are campaigning for the right to housing and an end to religious inequality in housing impacting the Catholic community in North Belfast particularly. ECW protested at the site in June with the support of Sinn Féin, the Green Party and People Before Profit. The Alliance Party and SDLP have also signed the group’s petition calling for social housing at the site.

Housing As A Human Right

Kelly Mon from ECW explained: “Our report shows that the current developer’s plans fail thousands of families. They also fail to meet the Council and Assembly's strategic objectives to tackle the housing crisis. Dunnes/Hillview is nearly twice the size of Girdwood and there is plenty of space for housing and shops or other things. One of the basic human needs is shelter, not a drive through restaurant and a car show room.”

The site is located in the middle of areas experiencing some of the highest demand for social housing. It is one of the last big opportunities capable of addressing housing need and religious inequality in North Belfast. The latest figures from the Housing Executive (March 2014) outline a need for 666 new and additional social homes in Catholic communities across North Belfast, and a surplus of 72 social homes among the Protestant community.

Petition

The families delivered their petition with over 1000 signatures with their counter proposal. The proposal details the range of human rights and local policy failings in the developer’s plans and offers a sustainable alternative to create jobs and homes. Working with PPR and Mc Cartan Muldoon architects, an alternative plan has been drawn up for the site. It would include social housing, and amenities, as well allowing for the economic potential of the site to be realised. Such a plan would help the NI Executive, the Department of Communities the Department of Infrastructure and Belfast City Council to meet their obligations and realise their strategic objectives in terms of housing and planning.

Sean Brady from Participation & Rights Project (PPR) said:

“This proposal provides guidance for decision-makers at Council and the Assembly to ensure they meet their human rights obligations to the people of Belfast. In June this year, the United Nations issued recommendations on the performance of the Assembly in relation to the right to housing. Once again housing inequality in North Belfast was highlighted as an unresolved problem. The private developers and government decision makers alike need to listen to the calls of the United Nations and the thousands of families waiting for a place to call home.”

Each daycare is committed to providing high quality, day care and after schools services to children, thereby supporting their development and improving parents’ access to education, training, employment and support services.
Kinderkids believes that learning begins at birth and has a profound effect on lifelong development and adult wellbeing. They acknowledge that quality child care promotes healthy child development at the same time as it supports families, reduces child poverty, advances equality, and deepens social inclusion.
